

Dovie Had Lishes On Table---And Then Wham!

SALEM, Tex., Feb. 14.—(AP)—Tenant farmer Dick Windsor and his family were about to sit down to an early Sunday dinner. His plump brunette wife, Dovie, 26, already had the dishes on the table in their modest East Texas farm home.

The children—Shirley, 9; Betty Sue, 6; Linda, 4, and Linwood, 18 months—apparently were gathered around the table at 10:42 a. m.

Seconds later their bodies, Linwood's already lifeless, were scattered among broken and uprooted pine trees. Their one-story rented home was flattened.

Last night at 7:30 Windsor, 36, died in Angelina County Hospital at Lufkin, 12 miles northwest of here. He suffered a punctured lung and a severe head injury.

At 4:50 a. m. this morning, Shirley, her pelvis and collar bone broken, died in the same hospital—third of the family, to die.

Betty Sue, in serious condition, has a fractured skull and torn left leg. Mrs. Windsor's only apparent injuries are minor cuts and bruises, but doctors say she suffered terrific shock.

Least hurt, and hardly old enough to know that her world has turned over, is 4-year-old Linda. She has minor cuts and bruises.

That's how a dipping, prodding tornado came into the life of the Windsor family yesterday.

A clock found in the wreckage set the storm's arrival at 10:42 a. m. There was little salvageable property left. The roof was found 300 yards away—in the top of some trees.

Mrs. T. E. Murray, who lives 1 1/2 miles from the white-painted Windsor home, saw the storm coming. It seemed to dip crazily in one direction and then another.

Then, suddenly, it flicked the Windsor house.

Besides the house, valuable pine trees surrounding it were destroyed. But the damage in that small area was the only property damage here.

Blinding rain came quickly after the screaming tornado. At Lufkin 1.43 inches fell in 27 minutes.

A Mr. Curry, his car struck in a mudhole about a half mile from the Windsor home, was first to the scene. He walked because roads in the area are treacherous, muddy and slippery and full of bogs.

Few homes in the East Texas timber area have telephones. Curry carried the unconscious bodies to his brother's home, 400 yards away. Not until 12:45 p. m. could he reach a telephone.

Jeeps carried the injured Windsor family to the highway, four miles away, where two automobiles waited.

The American Red Cross arranged quickly to reimburse the Windsor survivors for all their property loss. This would not include the rented home.

For their immediate needs, the surviving Windsors had the sympathetic help of hundreds of East Texans. Newspaper and radio stations, as well as the hospital, not innumerable telephone calls. Was there anything the caller could do to help?

At the hour the tornado struck the barometer at nearby Lufkin dropped to 29.22, equalling the freakish all-time low marked when the gulf hurricane hit last summer.

East Texas still was uneasy today. Last night a benchcraft plane flying at 12,000 feet above Corrigan, 28 miles south of Lufkin, reported "vast turbulence" at that altitude.

It was still raining in this area this morning. Clouds were dark, heavy and threatening.

RIPLEY DIES AS WIND STRIKES

RIPLEY, Tenn., Feb. 13. (AP)—A deadly tornado ripped through the peaceful little farm community of Hurricane Hill early today and killed nine persons.

Eight of the dead were members of the Wilson Carroll family, whose tenant home was swept away as they slept. An unidentified negro farm woman also was killed. Four others were reported injured slightly.

The storm cut for two or three miles over farmlands, demolishing three homes and damaging a few others in its 150-foot wide swath. It descended about 2 a. m. but first word of the accident didn't reach here until five hours later. Telephone lines had been blown down, and many people in the settlement slept through it all.

Seven bodies of the Carroll family were found in the wreckage of their home, scattered over a 300-foot area amid fallen trees. The eighth was 800 feet from the home site.

Carroll was 34, his wife 27. Their six children ranged in age from less than one year to 10 years. Sheriff Willard Norvell of Lauderdale county was among the first to reach the scene in a hard wind and a driving rain. He gave this account:

"Three houses and all the trees in the path of the twister were found in the ground. Some houses were blown off the blocks. A couple of others were unroofed.

"A lot of folks didn't know anybody had been hurt. But it shook houses and sounded like a freight train coming to some of them."

Hurricane Hill is a small, prosperous farming community of a few hundred persons. It is about 58 miles north of Memphis, in West Tennessee.

The Toll

Tornadoes, spawned in the clash of masses of cold air and warm moist air, ripped into twenty towns in Northwestern Louisiana, East Texas and Southern Arkansas in less than 24 hours over the week-end. Thirty-four persons were killed; an estimated 200 injured.

Two twisters killed at:

La Porte, Texas: Ella Dodson, former slave, whose age was between 97 to 101. She died Sunday in a Houston hospital.

Jericho, Texas: Mrs. Buster Fuels.

Fellowship, Texas: Mrs. Laura Grayson, Mrs. Will Eastridge.

Haslam, Texas: Mrs. Claiborne Mayfield.

Corley, Texas: Mrs. Paralee Banks, 66.

Salem, Texas: Linwood Windsor, 18 months; his father, Dick Windsor.

Roytown, La.: Nine dead.

Sligo, La.: Four dead.

Shreveport, La.: 1 dead.

Slack Air Force Depot (near Shreveport): 6 dead.

Grand Cane, La.: Four dead.

Hood's Quarters, La.: Two dead.

SHREVEPORT, La., Feb. 13.—(AP)—Tornadoes twisted death-dealing winds through Northwestern Louisiana, East Texas and Southern Arkansas over the week-end. Thirty-four persons were reported killed and 200 injured.

Twenty-six were believed dead in Louisiana, all in a 40-mile radius of Shreveport. There were eight known deaths in Texas.

Louisiana's injured was estimated at 100. So was the number of persons hurt in Texas. Hundreds of homes and other buildings were smashed.

The tornadoes spawned Saturday when a mass of cold air collided with a mass of warm, moist air, at least 20 times in less than 24 hours.

The number of dead in Texas and Louisiana had been reported high as 42 at one time last night. But Louisiana state police at Bossier City scaled this figure down with a check that caught some duplications.

First to feel the twisters was lowest East Texas. A tornado smashed LaPorte, and Alvin Saturday afternoon. Another twister hit later that day at Chapel Hill, Brumley and Baileyville. At midnight the damage increased, and with machine-gun rapidity the twisters struck at Corley, Groesbeck, Jericho, Fellowship, Haslam, Gil, Haslam, and Hughes Springs, all in Texas, and Trinity near Castor, Sligo, Shreveport and Grand Cane, in Louisiana.

The Shreveport Times gave this breakdown: Louisiana dead: At Roytown, nine; Slack Air Force depot near Shreveport, six; Sligo, four; Hood's Quarters, on the outskirts of Shreveport, two; Shreveport, one.

Twisters in Texas killed three women near the little sawmill town of Haslam; an 18-months-old boy and his father in a community southwest of Lufkin; a woman, in the Jericho community near Haslam; an elderly woman as Corley, near Texarkana, and a slave at La Porte.

Arkansas reported much less damage and no injuries from a single tornado.

There were few immediate estimates of damage. But it was put at $300,000 in the LaPorte-Alvin area; $35,000 at Hughes Springs and $25,000 at Corley. Most points hit in Louisiana were still wearily taking stock today.

Texas bore the brunt of the storms Saturday and early yesterday, but then they whipped-lashed into Louisiana and wreaked greater havoc.

Louisiana's dead were still only partially identified. The Times gave this incomplete list:

Barnsdall Sells 40 Per Cent Of Stock To Sunray

NEW YORK, Feb. 13.—(AP)—More than 40 per cent of the capital stock of the Barnsdall Oil Co. is to be purchased by Sunray Oil Corp. from the Atlas Corp. for an amount in excess of $42,000,000.

Floyd B. Odum, Atlas president, said the price is $56 a share. The agreement, he added in a statement here over the week-end, also gives Atlas an option to buy up to 750,000 shares of Sunray common for $12 a share until next Dec. 31.

The transaction was described as giving Sunray substantial additions to its reserves of proved and unproved oil and gas for much less than it would have to pay to develop similar reserves through drilling, leasing and discovery.

Meanwhile, C. H. Wright, president of Sunray, told directors at a meeting in Tulsa, Okla., that the company's net income for 1949 is expected to amount to $10,200,000 or $1.64 a share. This would compare with $15,644,254 or $2.73 a share in 1948. Although down from 1948, he said the 1949 net income would prove to be the second best in company history.

A cold front brought snow to the west half of Texas today and good news for East Texas: A probable end to tornado weather.

At mid-morning the cold air mass was stretched along a line from Texarkana and Tyler into the lower coast through Corpus Christi and Brownsville.

It was expected to sweep across the rest of Texas—through Houston, Beaumont, Port Arthur and Lufkin—by mid-afternoon.

"This colder weather means more stable conditions, not subject to such violent changes in pressure," a weather bureau spokesman said. "That, in turn, means tornadoes are much less likely than during the relatively mild temperatures which prevailed over the storm-stricken week-end."

Light snow was falling this morning at Abilene, Midland, Amarillo, Lubbock, El Paso, Guadalupe Pass and Wink.

The colder weather also probably means an end for now to the drenching rains which sent many East Texas streams to near flood level.

However, the weather bureau posted a flood warning to livestock owners on the Trinity river. Two highways and one county road were closed in Navarro county following 2.27 inches of rain.

Highway 309 was closed south of Kerens and the Trinity had Highway 287 closed between Corsicana and Palestine. The road between Corsicana and Roane was blocked because of high water from Chambers Creek.

None of the West Texas snow was heavy. That which fell at Midland today melted on the ground. Dropping temperatures were welcomed in East Texas, where twisters began their grim work Saturday. Yesterday the tornadoes

FELONS STAGE BREAK OUT OF TEXAS PRISON SYSTEM

SUGARLAND, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Ten negro convicts escaped early today from Texas Central Prison Farm here. Five were quickly recaptured.

Sgt. H. O. Andrews of the prison farm said the five still at large were dangerously armed with razor-sharp knives.

The five sawed their way out of a "tank" with a hack saw. The break was discovered by a night watchman. Thirty-five other negroes in the enclosure did not join in the break.

A posse of more than 100 officers began search for the five still at large. Bloodhounds also were used.

A posse captured A. D. Williams, 25, serving 30 years from Harris county for robbery, in a dairy barn.

MINERS SNEER AT COAL ORDER

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Angry soft coal miners continued their nationwide "no contract no work" strike full blast today. They ignored both John L. Lewis' work order and a federal court injunction.

In some areas, lack of official notification is delaying a decision by United Mine Workers locals on obeying their chief's order to return to the pits "forthwith."

No mines are operating in the large bituminous (soft coal) producing areas except unorganized or independent union pits and those covered by new contracts with the UMW.

Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Indiana, Illinois, Alabama, Ohio and other important coal states all report the strike is as strong this week as last.

Determined strikers vow they'll stay out until they get a contract.

Over the weekend, Lewis bowed to the court order and directed his 372,000 striking miners back to work. But with telegraph offices closed on Sundays in many small mining communities, several locals were late in receiving the official word.

Some idle miners said they aren't working because this is Lewis' 70th birthday.

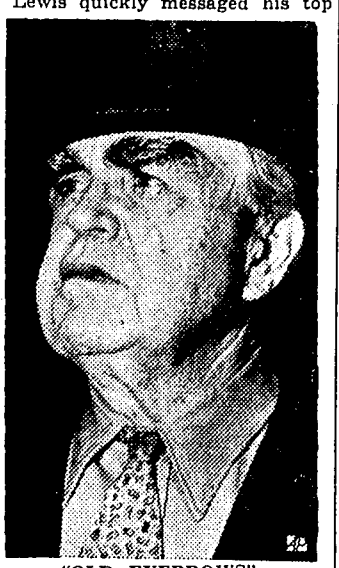

John L. Lewis, president of the UMW District 21 in Oklahoma and Arkansas, looks for a continuation of the strike despite Lewis and the court. He said:

"Some of the miners feel the government is trying to make convicts out of them. The miners fought for 50 years to get their union. They don't want it stolen away from them and be reduced to slaves."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—John L. Lewis and coal operators may complete arrangements shortly for resuming contract talks as directed by a Federal court. However, nothing was definite.

Judge Richmond B. Keach directed renewed bargaining "in good faith" at the same time on Saturday that he ordered Lewis and 370,000 United Mine Workers to call off their strike.

Lewis quickly messaged his top

"OLD EYEBROWS"

UMW aides to instruct miners to return to work—an order which most miners indicated they probably would ignore in the absence of a contract.

Also in compliance with the court order, Lewis asked coal operators to resume bargaining with him next Wednesday.

Phooey!

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—(AP)—Texans like Texans.

Today they're probably sending Valentine's cards to the state.

At a recent cocktail party Rep. John E. Lyle of Corpus Christi told this story about social life among Texans in the capital.

"The first thing the Texas delegation does on getting to work each morning is to have coffee together. Then they meet on the house floor. At noon the have lunch together."

"During the afternoon they talk together in the cloakrooms. At night they hurry home to get their wives and go out to a party where they see each other again."

"In fact, it's getting so bad that I drove Congressman Combs of Beaumont here tonight, then found myself shaking hands with him after we arrived."

Streams Out As Floods Hammer At Local Areas

Rainfall amounting to 2 1/2 inches over the week-end, culminated in a down-pour early Sunday and raised the level of Lake Halbert approximately four feet during the week.

Rail and highway traffic were interrupted Sunday and Sunday night and sections of Corsicana were isolated for a time Sunday morning by the rampaging waters of Post Oak creek.

The Southbound Sam Houston Zephyr of the Fort Worth and Denver-Burlington system was delayed in Corsicana two hours and 30 minutes Sunday evening because of high water on Tehuacana creek in Freestone county between Kirvin and Streetman. The crest fell and a patrol found the tracks O. K. before the streamliner was allowed to leave the local yards. A freight train had been delayed Sunday for a time because of Richland creek floodwaters in south Navarro county.

The Zion's Rest section of Corsicana was isolated by the floodwaters of Post Oak creek on North Beaton street, and the overflow moved into the yards of several residents in the northeastern section of the city.

Highway 309 between Kerens and Highway 287 in southeast Navarro county was closed by Rush creek floodwaters most of Sunday, but was open Monday morning, highway maintenance spokesmen stated.

The highway was approximately four feet under water late Sunday.

The concrete road to Tupelo, Roanoke, Chaffin and other northeast Navarro county points was doubly closed Monday after Briar and Chambers creeks left their banks.

Briar will likely return to its channel during the day, but Chambers, one of the major streams of this section, will probably remain in the lowlands several days since it is fed by the majority of the streams originating in Ellis and Johnson counties. No fears of levee breaks had been reported Monday morning unless additional precipitation on the upper watersheds are received.

Richland creek was reported high Sunday, but that stream does not stay out long after rains subside in Hill and western Navarro counties.

Lake Halbert, city reservoir, was visited by thousands of motorists Sunday, as Elm creek and other streams on the watershed emptied into the lake area. Much of the formerly dry area west of the Burlington-Rock Island Lines trestle across the lake was covered with water late Sunday.

Two cars proceeding over Highway 287 between Corsicana and Palestine and that thoroughfare has been closed since last Tuesday. With the flood conditions of the

BOATS SUNK IN MUD OF LAKE

Several Corsicana boat owners were engaged in "Big Mo" operations at Lake Halbert Sunday after the heavy rains submerged their "sea-going" vessels.

Ass't. City Engineer John Smith said at least 15 boats were "muddied-in" near the dam and at the boat house.

Most of the boats had been resting on bottom land and when the rains came the boats filled with water and stayed put.

Nearly all the boat owners were at the city lake Sunday and spent many hours getting their crafts seaworthy.

Hundreds of citizens, who were interested in the amount of water in the lake, provided land-lubber kibitzing.

A spokesman at the lake said the water level raised to within five feet and two inches of the new spillway top, showing an increase of approximately four feet in the past week.

The spillway recently was raised one foot. The water level had dropped below the gauge markings before the heavy rains.

City Engineer Fred V. Elcher said Lake Halbert's water level rose 49 inches from Feb. 6. Two and a quarter inches were caught Sunday, .59 on Saturday and .95 on Friday.

Three Injured In Auto Mishap Near Richland Creek

Three persons were slightly injured at 9:30 a. m. Monday in an accident immediately north of Richland creek bridge on Highway 75 near Richland.

Two cars proceeding in a southerly direction figured in the mishap, with one of them plunging into the bar ditch several feet below the level of the dump in the bottom approaching the Richland creek levee and bridge.

One of the cars was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thomas Howard and George West, Texas, and the other by Edward Livingston, Jr., Dallas.

The three were brought to the Corsicana Hospital and Clinic for treatment.

The highway patrol answered the call. A Griffin ambulance brought the Howards to the Clinic.

HOUSE PIDDLES WITH LEVY ON FAGS

AUSTIN, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The house went to work today on a cigarette tax bill to pay for new state hospitals and special school buildings.

The measure by Reps. Davis Clifton of Farmersville and Jack Cox of Breckenridge would boost the tax a penny a pack. It was estimated to raise 8 million dollars a year, all earmarked for hospital buildings, for seven years.

This action brought the special session nearer a showdown on the question of whether or not it is willing to increase taxes, and how much, to pay for better treatment of the mentally ill and mentally defective.

While the senate met briefly and adjourned until 11 a. m. tomorrow, additional fund-raising measures were offered in the house.

One would levy an occupation tax on retail stores with gross receipts of one million dollars a year or more. Three-fourths of the revenue would go to state hospitals and special schools and one-fourth to the available school fund.

Another proposed bill would transfer $245,000 in various special state funds to a hospital fund.

By Reps. Douglas Bergman of Dallas and R. E. (Peppy) Blount of Big Spring, it was designed to help pay the hospital bill and relieve the demand for new taxes.

The Bergman-Blount bill was held up by the speaker on a point of order as to whether or not it came within the special session call. The department and chain

County Court Names Judges For Election

Election judges for the 46 voting precincts in Navarro county were appointed by the commissioners court at its regular meeting Monday.

The court also voted to purchase a GMC one-half ton pickup truck from Norris-Hamilton Motors for $1,325 less taxes. The vehicle was selected from among several. The truck will be used by Precinct 1, Commissioner G. C. Kent.

Bids also will be accepted and opened on March 1 for a motor grader.

Reports of the negro county agent were approved, and Home Demonstration Agent Gertrude Dryden reported briefly to the court on her office activities.

The following election judges were appointed (name appearing first is chairman):

Ward 1—Ralph Elliott, W. T. Sherrard, Mrs. Arthur Dunn and Mrs. W. F. Morris Jr.

Ward 2—J. S. Murchison, H. A.

Texas Lawmakers, As Usual With a Monday, Move Slowly If At All

AUSTIN, Feb. 13.—(AP)—The legislature moved nearer a showdown today on whether or not it is willing to increase taxes to pay for better treatment of its mentally ill and mentally deficient wards.

It went into its third week of special session without having definitely settled the question, or come to a clear-cut vote on the issue. Opponents of new taxes have used stalling tactics to delay action on half a dozen different proposals for new revenue.

Listed as first order of business in the house was the committee-approved penny-a-pack cigarette tax boosting bill by Reps. Davis Clifton of Farmersville and Jack Cox of Breckenridge. It was expected to produce an estimated $8,000,000 a year, all of it earmarked for a special building fund for hospitals and special schools. The increase would remain in effect for seven years.

The cigarette tax proposal was one of several approved in committee and now ready for debate in the house.

Among them was a measure boosting the production tax rate on oil, gas and sulphur by 15 percent. The original boost on these items was also that figure, but it was trimmed in committee to 10.

The new bill was introduced when the so-called economy block in the house threatened to raise the point of order that there were only two copies of the original, instead of three as required by the rules. The second bill came out of committee with the figure at 15 per cent.

HYDROGEN AND HOPE

At present, the hope of Americans for a peaceful future hinges almost entirely on our relationship with Russia. One theory underlying the official attitude toward Russia the past two or three years has been that the only compelling principle the Russians recognize and understand is force. By this theory, two conditions must be met before international conversations can be resumed on any reasonable basis—the Russian must be convinced that we will not yield to threats of force, and they must be convinced that the United States now holds and is willing and able to maintain indefinitely a superiority in military strength and resources.

One of the things America has wanted since the end of the war is effective control for atomic energy, control which would make it impossible for the atomic bomb ever again to be used in war. For some reason Russia has blocked the way to such a plan. Now the United States has made public the fact that it will attempt to make a hydrogen bomb, which would be as great an advance over the atomic bomb as that was over previous military explosives. Will this provide the demonstration of strength to earn the Russians' respect, or will it only increase their fears and distrust? Perhaps not even the Russians could answer at this moment.

We may very well ask what we shall do next if after development of a hydrogen bomb we remain at loggerheads with Russia. Presumably we would start a stockpile of the new bombs and begin a search for something more terrible. Descriptions of the potential hydrogen bomb suggest the fantastic leaps and bounds which may be taken as we move forward in the new field of nuclear energy. The suggestion may be strong to make the Russians, as well as us, ponder the desirability of an assurance of peace. There may, after all, be hope in the hydrogen bomb.

THE TASTE FOR NEWS

In discussions of the amount of newspaper space devoted to items grouped broadly as "sensationalism," the question is often posed whether the public desire to know sensational things first led newspapers to publish them, or whether publication of such items began first and led to the cultivation of the taste for them. The question, like that of whether the hen or the egg came first, seems to be unanswerable.

The honest editor does find himself forced to pause, occasionally, and ponder the state of affairs indicated by the front page attention, and top spots on the news-casts, claimed by the love lives and obituary notices of leading lights of the American entertainment world wandering over Europe and the Middle East. Can the doubts that assail him at such times be dismissed with the thought that the idols of stage and screen are human after all, like newspaper readers and the rest of the people?

The doings of people make up the human scene the daily picture which your newspaper strives to present as honestly as possible. If something in the picture seems out of proportion, it may be because the editor, too, is human, and has human urges, one of which is that of competition. When he has on his desk some choice tidbit, knowing that it will be told in any case, he may at times be unable to with-

EVERYBODY'S CONCERN

The educational problems facing America are of too great complexity to be handled by teachers and parents alone. The state of our public schools is a matter of concern of every member of every community.

With this thought in mind, the National Citizens Commission for the Public Schools was founded last spring. The Commission's work is being financed by funds from the Carnegie and Rockefeller foundations. Its slogan is "The problems of public education concern all of us and it is time for all of us to do something about them."

Regions containing township or borough groups, some of which have good buildings and low operating funds, are advised as to co-operative organizations. Citizens everywhere are encouraged to form local commissions, which will be offered advice by representatives of the national group. State-wide campaigns for better schools and more teachers are being launched, as well as the regional efforts within states.

The movement toward federal aid to education is not advancing rapidly. It is obvious that the unevenness of educational opportunity in the country as a whole is a serious matter. These local, community, and state-wide enterprises should provide one good means of solving some of our educational problems.

LEWIS AND LABOR

For a long time it has been apparent to some labor leaders that the policies and activities of John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers were a greater threat to the position and reputation of organized labor than all the wealth and power of any amount of antagonistic industrial ownership or management in the present day.

No more obvious proof of the damage Lewis is doing to labor could be found than in his relation to the Taft-Hartley Act, to which all organized labor is bitterly opposed. The staunchest supporters of the act, including its authors admit that it contains errors which ought to be corrected. The attitude of Lewis, more than any other single factor, influenced Congress not to repeal or alter the law last year. Now new acts of Lewis have tied the hands of the most powerful all labor had against the Taft-Hartley Law, the President, leaving him no alternative to use of the law after a year and a half of painstaking effort to demonstrate that the Taft-Hartley controls are not needed.

Lewis and his organization are a serious problem for the people and the government. They are a serious problem for the rest of organized labor as well. It would be better to face the problem fully now and hammer out a solution, than to be satisfied, as we have been in the past, just to get the coal mines operating again.

We must be returning to normal. The matter of a new car is again becoming a periodic question in the American family.

Corsicana PTA Council Names Group To Nominate Officers; Ray Waller Is Speaker On Educational Planning

Mrs. L. B. Dawson, W. H. Smith, W. C. Lewis and John Remont and Miss Allen Caraway have been named to a nominating committee for the Corsicana Council of PTA. They will report at the March 9 session when Ralph Brown will be the speaker, and "Education and the Business World" will be the subject. The committee was named at the Thursday session of the council at which Mrs. A. F. Formby presided, and H. C. Allen introduced the speaker, Ray Waller, president of Navarro Junior College. "Family Planning for Education" was his subject. Waller pointed out to the parents that family planning for college education should begin immediately and not wait until a student's finishing high school. Between the ages of 2 and 6, it may be determined whether a child will be student, said the educator, who said parents should not be overanxious for a child to finish school and not push him through to early graduation. It is not good family planning, said the speaker, "when we plan to move along too fast."

There are too many people who cannot spell or work a calculator, Waller claimed, adding that even college students sometimes are not able to do these things. Education is not a thing of play, but it could be made enjoyable, said the speaker. Whatever a child is going to do, let him do it well, he urged.

Parents are most guilty of trying to plan the lives of their children, Waller charged, stressing at the same time the need for family planning for education.

Kerens Club Has Program On Ravel To Feature Meet

KERENS, Feb. 10.—(Sp)—Mrs. A. L. Bain and Mrs. R. H. Mays served as hostesses when the Kerens Music Club met in the home of Mrs. A. L. Quate Wednesday afternoon.

Continuing the study "Afternoons With Music," Miss Ethel Mays presented a program of music, including a biographical sketch of the composer—Ravel, and then presented Mrs. Quate and Mrs. Carroll Thompson, who gave renditions of "The Swan" and "Ballet" by Debussy with Mrs. Quate at the Hammond organ and Mrs. Thompson at the piano.

Following the regular program, Mrs. Quate favored the club with other organ selections which were greatly enjoyed. ZELMA HANSON IS NAMED GOOD CITIZENSHIP PILGRIMAGE GIRL BY LOCAL DAR CHAPTER

Miss Zelma Hanson, who was Queen of Corsicana High School in December, has been chosen for another outstanding honor. In a recent contest among Senior girls, Miss Hanson was selected by James Blair Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, as Good Citizenship Pilgrimage Girl of Corsicana High School.

Miss Hanson was revealed at a High School assembly program Thursday morning when Mrs. W. H. Hastings, chairman of the local project, presented to the 1950 winner a certificate from the National Society, D. A. R., a pin from James Blair Chapter, and the chance to compete for the title of State Pilgrimage and a $100 "Good Citizen" award.

Mrs. Hastings stated that the award had been made on the following qualifications:

DEPENDABILITY, which includes truthfulness, loyalty and punctuality; SERVICE, which includes co-operation, courtesy and consideration of others; LEADERSHIP, which includes personality, self-control and ability to assume responsibility; PATRIOTISM, which includes unselfish interest in family, school, community and nation. In discussing the method of selection, Mrs. Hastings explained that the student body of an accredited High School elects three candidates possessing the required qualifications. From these three, she stated, the faculty selects the one to become "Good Citizen" for the year, and her name is sent by the school principal to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

A drawing is then held to determine the Good Citizen of the state, the chairman pointed out. In Texas, the drawing will take place in Austin, and the one who selects the state's representative must not be connected with the DAR in any capacity, she stated. For 1941, Mrs. Hastings told her listeners, each State Pilgrimage was awarded a trip to Washington, D. C. But war conditions after 1941 changed that, and hotel accommodations and led to the awards being changed to a $100 War Bond. It was brought out by the speaker that girls from 6,238 High schools participated in the contest last year and that each one received a certificate from the National Society.

Winner's Activities
 In addition to possessing the required qualifications, Miss Hanson has many activities to her credit. She was selected as Princess of the Sophomore Class, Queen of the Whole High School. She served as cheer leader for two years, she is now secretary of the Student Council.

BULLDOGS WIN IN PANOLA TILT

Navarro trampled Panola's Ponies, 61-38 here Saturday night in a conference game, to strengthen its bid for second position in the zone basketball race.

As the rain poured outside the gym, the teams found the going little hazardous as they slipped on spots where the rain leaked through the gym roof.

After a turbulent beginning, Navarro found the combination and took the lead, never to be headed by the visitors. During the opening minutes, however, Panola gave the locals all they could handle.

It was the last home game of the season for the Bulldogs. They have only one game remaining in the regular season—a meeting next Wednesday night with LeTourneau in Longview.

As Saturday night's game opened, both teams went for two minutes without scoring. Navarro shot the last of Kenner's free shot and went on to lead at 5-3. Panola tied it up at 5-5 and pushed ahead at 7-5, only to have Navarro tie it at 7-7.

Panola went ahead again, but Navarro tied it at 12-12 and then the half-time score read 22-17 in favor of the Bulldogs.

Leon Wylie led the Navarro scoring despite a weak ankle, collecting 16 tallies. He was pushed closely by veteran Oscar Crisman, who hit the hoops for 13 tallies.

Wilburn Guthrie turned in his best game of the season for Navarro in a reller role, and Hal Bigham did a fine job of floor work and recovery work under the backboard. Ted Darland and Don Graner also turned in some good work. Bill Reed did not suit up in the game because of an injured ankle.

Bigham and Graner, the visitors, tied for high honors, both netting 9 points.

Navarro (61) FG FT PF TT Wylie 7 2 0 16 Graner 4 0 4 8 Crisman 6 1 13 Darland 3 0 0 6 Cleveland 0 0 0 0 Murphy 2 0 1 4 Guthrie 0 0 0 0 Wilson 0 0 0 0 Orr 0 0 0 0

Halftime score, Navarro 28, Panola 17; free shots missed, Wylie, Crisman Darland 3, Wasson; Martin 2, Gray 2, Bishop 4, Holman 3, Lawless.

Tigers And Bulldogs To Ring Curtain Down In Basketball Battle This Week

The end of the 1950 basketball trail comes this week for Navarro Junior College and Corsicana high school.

Both teams bow out on the road. Tuesday night the Tigers go to Temple to face the co-headers of the league lead. The Wildcats will be favored by most dopsters as the Ball county leads are driving hard to stay up with Waxahachie.

Thursday night the Tigers end their season at Ennis.

Navarro's Bulldogs go to Longview Wednesday night for a meeting with LeTourneau Tech. This is the last scheduled game for Navarro, but there is a chance that the locals might get an invitation to participate in the annual junior college tourney sponsored by Texas A. and M. College, providing they end up in undisputed second place.

Reports from the county included:

Kerens—Immense rain—water high in all creeks.

Rice—Another big rain.

Frost—A big rain.

Richland—Big rains, everything full Creek out.

Dawson—Another good rain, Richland and other creeks out.

Blooming Grove—Plenty of rain. County dirt roads were in bad condition before the hard-packing rains of the week-end, and school buses and other traffic had cut the soft roads to pieces.

Considerable damage probably has been suffered by county roads, particularly in the lowlands to abutments of creek and slough bridges. A check will be unavailable for several days by the county commissioners.

Hubbard, Hill county, has an ample water supply for the first time in two years. That city is supplied from five lakes west of the town and the week-end rains has provided enough supply to last until next Fall, the first time since early 1947 this condition has existed.

Continuance Of Fraleys Murder Case Is Granted

A defense motion in the L. W. Fraleys murder without malice trial for a continuance was granted Monday morning by A. P. Mays, district judge.

said they would wait to see if the men returned to the pits before answering this bid.

Who can be done if the miners refuse to work may shape into a classic case for the courts.

The law says individuals can work or quit without punishment. But the law also says a union is responsible for the acts of its "agents," and it might be punished because its members quit in a group.

Lewis and the coal operators got anywhere in the prospective renewed bargaining sessions, the legal questions won't matter. Coal production to end the fuel shortage is the government's main interest.

Government lawyers waited to see how many miners start swinging their picks again. It was even indicated they may wait to see how the bargaining talks come out before moving for any contempt of the back-to-work injunction, should the strike continue.

Judge Keech also directed that Lewis must abandon (1) his demands for a union shop without the required prior election among the miners, (2) a welfare fund giving benefits only to union members, (3) contract clauses making miners take protracted "memorial period" holidays and (4) clauses requiring them to work only when "able and willing."

Lewis said his union has a total of $2,130,000 for violating somewhat similar court orders in 1946 and 1948—told his union aides he was abandoning these demands.

Keech said that the union is illegal under the Taft-Hartley law.

Even stiffer money terms may be proposed by Lewis now that he has been forced to abandon the four contract clauses, which he has had in several previous labor contracts.

Leaders of the Southern Coal Producers Association, convening in their annual meeting today, were to decide whether to accept Lewis' bid for renewed bargaining on Wednesday.

Also on the day's schedule was another court hearing involving Lewis. This one was brought on by a former coal miner, George Livengood, with a demand for a court accounting of the now-poor miners' welfare fund.

Livengood contended the one-time 100,000,000 fund had been unlawfully dissipated.

Migraine Headaches

By W. P. BROWN
Of Johnson's Pharmacy

Migraine is probably the most distressing of all types of headaches because the patient knows that one attack foretells another. These attacks usually occur at regular intervals but vary with the individual from a few days apart to several months. Pain is often limited to one side of the head, and most migraine victims also experience some intestinal upset.

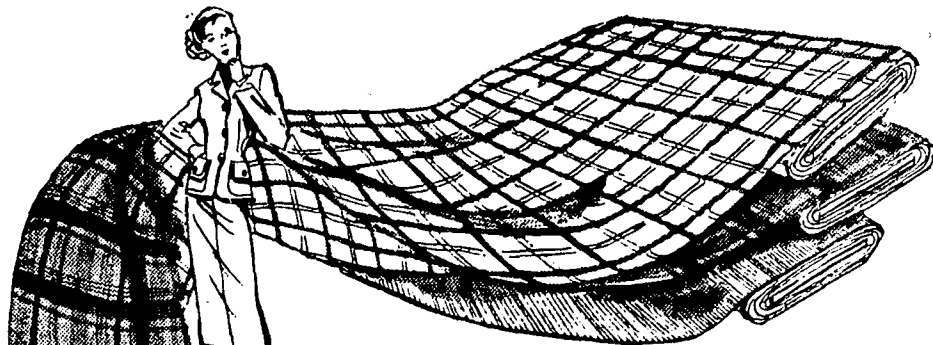

If you suffer from migraine headaches it is important that you have the advice of a doctor. He will explain the importance of a regular physical routine, free from unnecessary emotional strain. Your doctor will also prescribe whatever medication he believes may help you.

Let a conscientious pharmacist fill that prescription.

Richland, Kerens Contingents Are In Second Slots

Dolphus Darnell And Flora Alice Anders Set Pace

The State Home Lads and Lassies swept to both first places in the last ones on the district 40-B, which was finished at the State Home court here Friday night.

Second places went to the Richland boys and the Kerens girls. Third places were taken by the Kerens boys and the Mildred girls. The Lads and Lassies both had terrific fights in the finals. Dolphus Darnell of the Lads led to a 23-21 conquest of the Richland quint after the Lads had led, 13-11 at the half.

Flora Alice Anders paced the Lassies from her forward position with 13 points as her mates took a narrow 21-20 victory from the Kerens girls in the finals. The Lassies led 10-6 at the half. Simmons and Bray paced the Kerens attack.

The Kerens boys overwhelmed the Mildred boys, 44-12 for third place, with Ficklin's 17 points being high performance for the night. Mildred, behind the sharp goal shooting of a lass named Brewer, downed the Richland girls, 24-16. The forward collected 16 of her team's points.

All four of the teams represented in the meet will be in the district finals tournament, slated for Kerens the latter part of next week.

Hungry Navarro Soil Gets Good Meal; And 1950 Cotton Yields Looms As Big

By CLYDE E. JOHNSON Daily Star Staff Writer

That little green stuff littering the lands of Navarro county—nearly 100,000 acres of it—will give farmers a record yield in cotton this year.

Agriculturists seem certain of this. Depleted soils hourly are absorbing vital organic matter as legume and soybean crops build up nitrogen from the air.

Some farmers knew a dozen years ago about this scientific fact in growing cotton and building the soil; many are yet to be educated.

But today, growing in Navarro county, are more than 80,000 acres of winter wheat, 30,000 to 40,000 acres of other green crops. When this land is put in cotton this spring, excellent growth will result, and with proper poisoning and care, the crop will average one-half bale to the acre are anticipated.

Although the government's 1949 cotton acreage allotment for the county is approximately 140,000 acres—compared with 180,000 in 1948—this year's yield will be doubled on many farms.

Handed the cotton production figure next year will not be too far behind last year's 75,000 bales—despite the federal acreage curb.

Winter legumes, boosted to growth by phosphate, and cotton insect control will be responsible. Many farmers proved this during 1949, when they followed farm practices set down by County Extension Agents.

A 15-acre tract had been seeded in winter legumes and phosphated, then planted in cotton the following spring. When in the field, the crop became infested, Smith poisoned the parasites.

Meanwhile, he did nothing on 25 acres—just planted the cotton and Anderson, G.

On the remaining 85 acres the farmer left off the winter legumes, but applied the insect control method.

The result was: Spraying alone doubled the 85-acre crop's yield over that of the 25-acre tract.

When legumes and spraying, the 15-acre tract's yield doubled the output on the 85-acre—or quadrupled the crop on which "nothing" was done.

In reporting this, County Agent W. H. Walker pointed out that both insect control and winter legume programs are equally important in increasing cotton yields.

"Farmers are getting to the point where they don't question the program any longer," Walker said.

Robert Clouque, who heads the local Production and Marketing Administration (Triple A) office, summed the situation up this way:

"The foundation already has been laid. We've got the soil in condition; now we've got to keep out the insects."

An excellent growth of legumes and winter wheat because of rains, the county agent reported.

This year's vast legume crop compares with about 10,000 acres in 1948, and 18,000 in 1949, and approximately 30,000 acres last year, Walker reported.

The total "cultivation" acreage in Navarro county is roughly 300,000 acres.

A large number of farmers this year will harvest their legumes, particularly hairy vetch, which is a cash crop. A voluntary vetch crop will follow next year because of "self-seeding."

Consequently, the soil will be built even stronger without the customary spring cotton.

So, an even higher yield of cotton during 1951 seems inevitable.

Census Taker To Jot Down Facts On Native Born

The last United States population census, in 1940, revealed that of each 1,000 inhabitants of the country, 992 were native and 88 were foreign born. In 1930, when the number of foreign born in the nation's population was at its highest, the division was 884 and 116 of foreign birth in each 1,000 persons. In 1920, the ratio was 888 natives to 112 foreign born per 1,000 population, exclusive of Indians not counted and negro slaves, for whom the place of birth information was not recorded in the census.

The 17th decennial census to be taken in April will continue the statistical history of nativity of the country's inhabitants. Inquiries included in the census will be on the country of birth of individuals and of their parents. This will enable the United States bureau of census to sort out the number of natives, the number of these of native parentage, the number of natives in each of three foreign-born parentage, namely, those with both parents foreign born, those with a foreign-born father and a native mother, and those with a foreign-born mother and a native father.

Despite the imposition of immigration restrictions, the foreign-born population of the United States reached a peak in 1930 of 14,204,149. This was an increase of a little over a quarter of a million from the 1920 total of 13,920,882. In 1940, the total foreign born was 11,594,896. A further decline is anticipated with the 1950 census totals have been computed.

Foreign Born In United States To Be Census Query

In April, the nation's original quiz program will be resumed when the bureau of census will ask the 17th decennial census of the United States. At the time listings are made of all persons to determine their number, notation will be made as to whether they are native born, foreign born, or foreign born. The census taker will be asked to determine whether their parents were natives of this or some foreign country.

The 1950 census will enumerate the foreign-born population by country of birth and on a sample basis, the population of foreign parentage, by country of birth of parents, but will not ascertain those whose European ancestors are more than one generation removed.

In 1940 there were 11,701,558 white persons in the United States, of whom 10,722,420 were born in this country, and 1,119,138 abroad. Among the native white, there were 54,240 who were both parents born in this country, and 23,157,580 with one or both parents born abroad. Of the 7,973,840 of mixed parentage, 5,287,140 had fathers who were born abroad, but mothers who were born in the United States, and 2,706,700 had mothers who were born abroad but fathers who were born in the United States.

On a nationwide basis, the German foreign-born was first in numerical importance, representing about one-seventh of the total foreign white stock in 1940. Next in importance was the Italian stock, with approximately one-eighth of the total. Canada, Poland, Russia, and Ireland were each the origin of between seven and nine per cent of the foreign white stock.
